All Australian Delivery Service

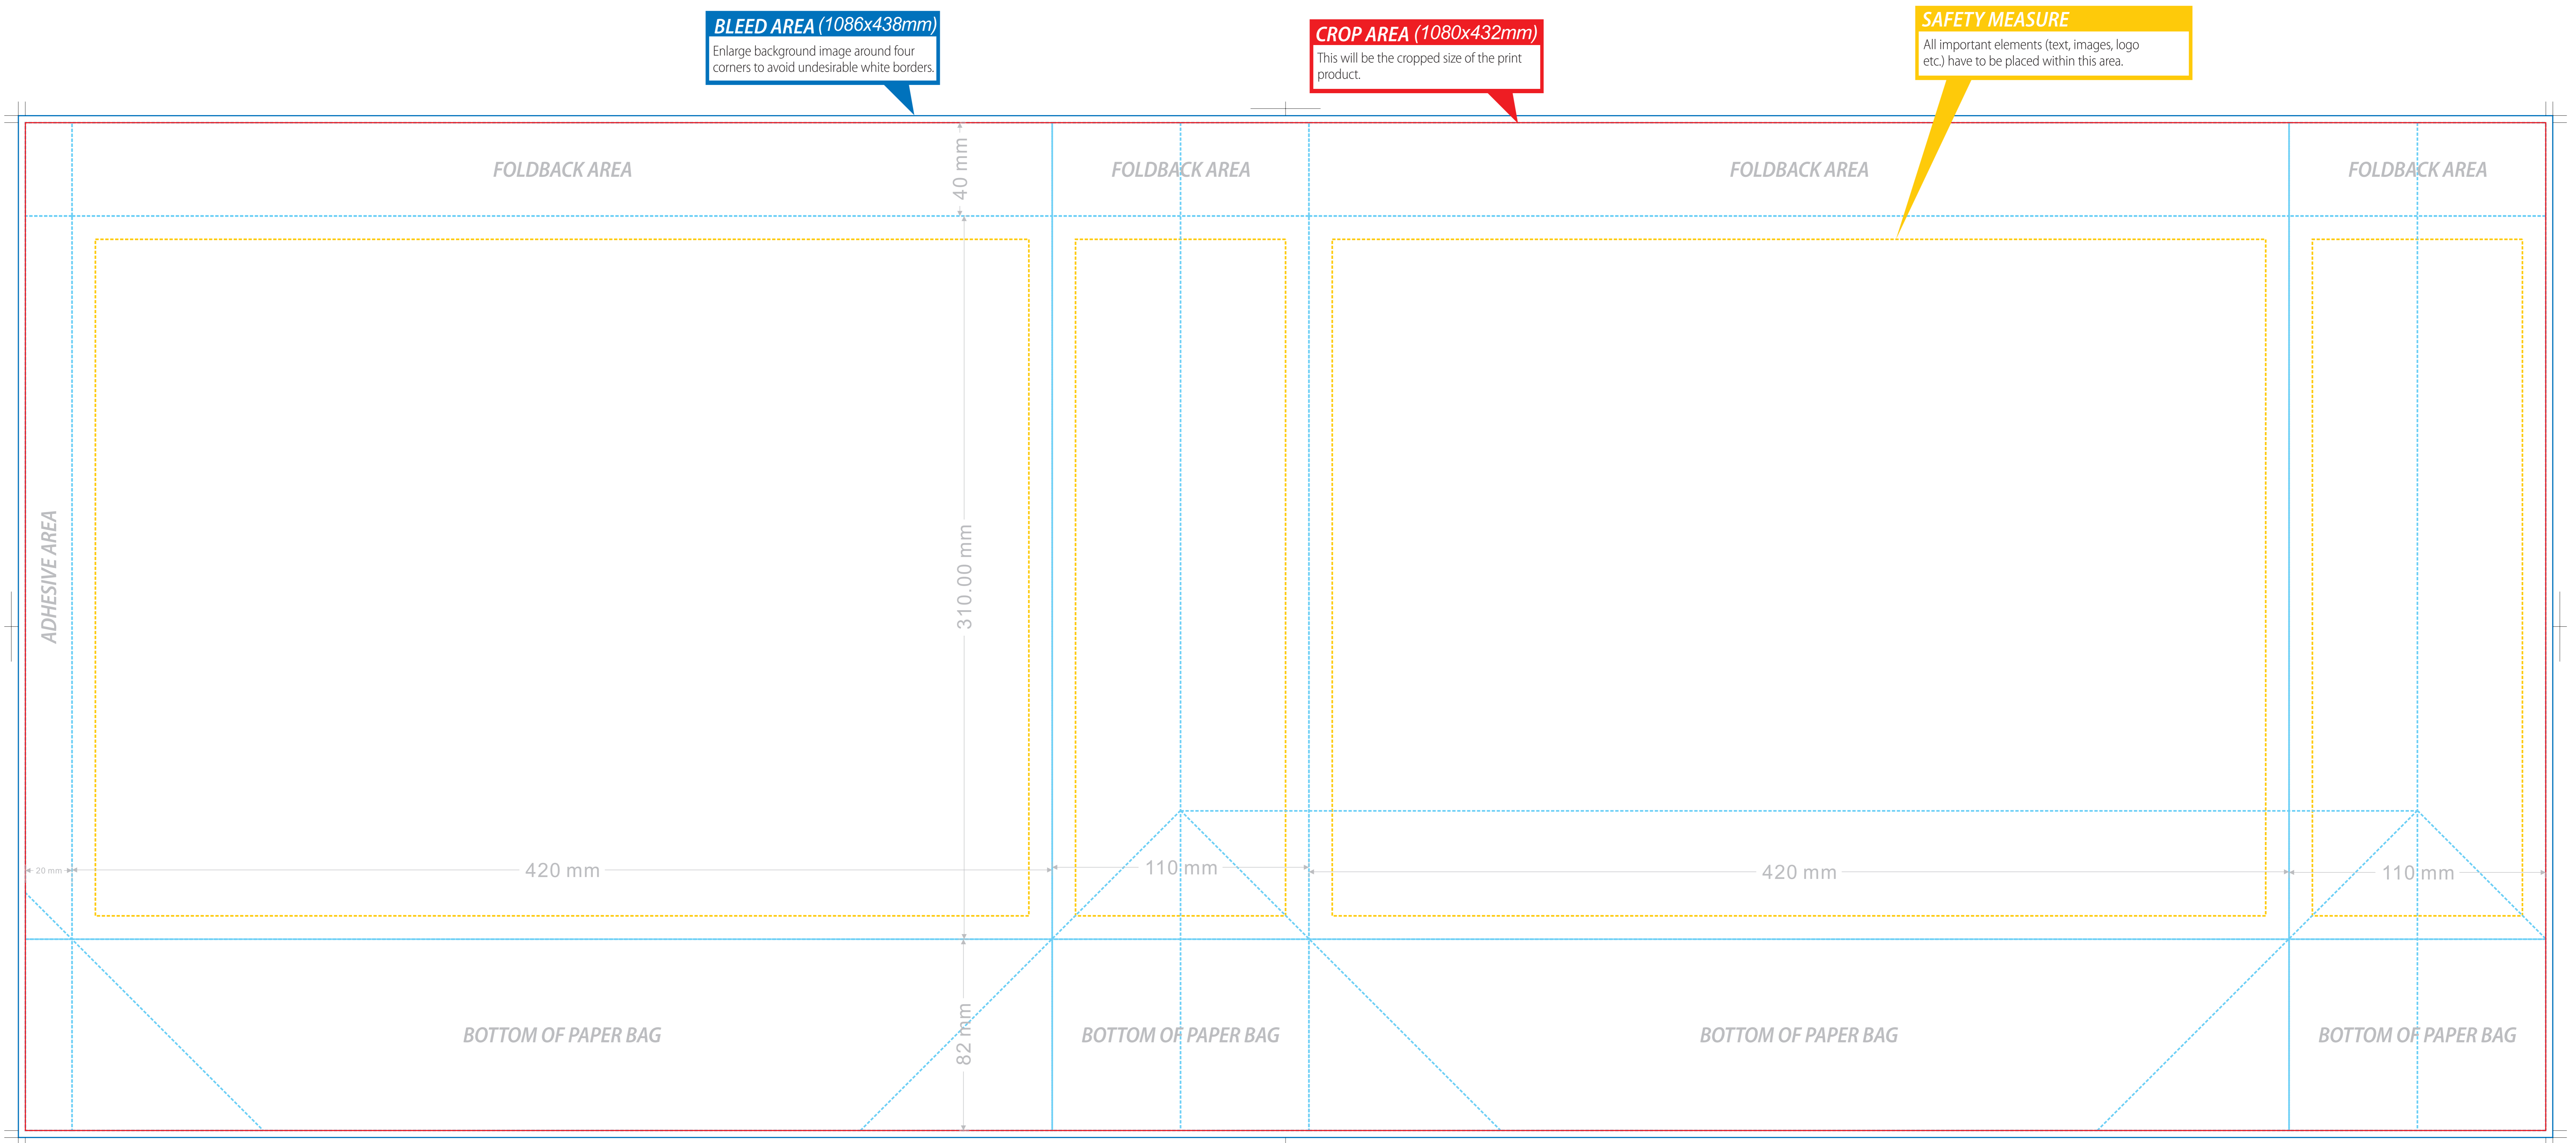

- We use standard CMYK for printing. Using other colour models in your artwork such as RGB and Pantone might cause differentiation or error in the colours on your print product.
- Final print product might only be 85% close to what you see your artwork as on screen in terms of colour. An interval of 15% of colour differentiation is an acceptable standard for the printing industry.

- 1 Edit and lay out text and images
- 2 Create outlines for all text or turn all text to curve
- 3 Save and upload onto www.forestprint.com.au or email to gejing@forestprint.com.au
